We were to observe the operations hereabouts with keen interest, for should the Austro-Germans win the present battle, and follow up by driving the Russian right flank back, there is a danger of them forcing the whole Russian line to the southward to the Dniester, just as the Russian advance in the Carpathians was threatening to force the Austrians back to the Danube.

But the Russians have a big margin of ground to cover before this danger could become imminent, and it is ground well suited to defence, so there are good prospects of the Red Army's forces wearing down the enemy's attack before any backward movement becomes necessary to affect the southern portion of the line. The Russian, of course, is looking rather far ahead, and the Russians are still holding the line of 1917.

ENLISTMENTS.

A WRETCHED WEEK.

catch of wounded arrived also saw the sight of the enrolling office wearing high, but recently the novelty has worn off, and nothing will move those who are safe at home, and the week ended last Saturday is the zero so far on a recruiting point of view. The number of men recruited at the barracks, Town Hall and Board of Health was only 563, and yesterday's start for this week at the barracks

At the Board of Health on Saturday men were passed as fit. There were 10 of the common. One was minus a toe on one foot and two other toes as well. He was no shirker. He showed the medical officers how he could dance, run, jump, and explained that he had lost his toes some time ago, and that the loss had not interfered with his surfing or any other line of sport. The doctors, after consultation

An enrolling officer, accepted him. The officer worthy of mention was one of those who had been rescued from the wreck of the Lusitania. He had been a steward on board that vessel which was sunk as a mark of German Kultur on resuming a similar position on a ship trading to Australia he took his cargo here, and promptly visited the recruiting office, with a view to offering his services. He passed all tests without any difficulty.

They take the step which transforms them from fugitives into King's men. A non-commissioned officer remarked as he gazed on the brilliant three, "It's almost worth ordering a special train for such a magnificent march."

NEWCASTLE CAMP.

The following figures of country envoys last week have been supplied to the premier by the military authorities:—

POSTMASTERS' CLAIMS.

INCREASE OF SALARIES.

MELBOURNE, Sunday.—In the Arbitration Court on Saturday, before Mr. Justice Powers, the hearing was continued of the claims lodged by postmen for increased rates of salary and disallowances, for reduction in hours of duty. Mr. Skewes opened the case for the Public Service Commissioner and Minister for Home Affairs. He said the total number of employees affected by the claim of the two associations was 1,200.

There were 329 postmasters and 344 assistant postmasters in charge of post-offices in the United States. The Postmasters' Association represents the larger proportion of men affected by the granting by the Court of the claims for salaries and free quarters. The plaintiff stood at the opening work have involved an increased annual expenditure of $46,000. A recent amendment of the act had eliminated the request for free quarters, but had added to the amount claim for salaries. The annual increase would be ount to £20,000, and would be distributed over 1073 post-offices. The cost of the claim lodged by the Post and Telegraphers' Association had not been computed, but would be less than the claim presented by the Postmasters' Association. The Court asked whether a case had been made out by the associations in relation to the various points in the plaints.

His Honor intimated that he would require evidence in regard to boards of apportionment, and other matters, but in regard to increased claims for electoral registrars er would be made by the Court. The Government was further agreed that in view of the fact that legislation by the Federal Parliament providing for a doubling of the rate of payment of overtime on holidays no decision of the Court was necessary in respect to postmaster's overtime on this matter. The case is paid.

Westcourt, who gained third place, was bred by the late Mr. J. H. ## THE FINISH FOR THE EPSOM.

LENGTHS FROM GOLDEN HOP, WHO IS SUCCEEDED BY AURIFER AND GARLIN.

Hearts, and as they moved along the back to the first finishing post, where Cottingham moved out and beat the other horses. Followed by Wootton, who was second, Common Law, and Monmouth, with Griggs and Royal Cavalry at the head of the others. The London was preserved past the half-mile post and round the bend, and the favorite turned for home with Cottingham hard upon him, and closely followed by Wootton, Hargrave, and Kansas. Cottingham challenged Wootton long before the distance, when the latter's battle was fought out between the pair. In a few moments Cottingham was level with the leaders, and three times, and in turn Mr. Barker's colt, who under pressure, swerved out and bumped into Cottingham, and then he was again level with Wootton, who was immediately on the inside. Inside the half-distance Cottingham had the lead, and he held his place to the end, winning by a length and a quarter, and a good deal of credit. Wootton was a long way away third. Kansas was close up fourth, succeeded by Hargrave, Royal Parade, Common Law, and First Lesson, with Griggs at the tail of the main body, and Patsford a lone straggler. Time 27 3/4.
